Data Privacy Policy 1

1.2 Data Subject Requests

Training on data subject requests is mandatory and must be completed every 26 months via the learning portal. Training on data subject requests is mandatory and must be completed every 16 months via the learning portal. Breaches involving data subject requests must be escalated to the data controller immediately and documented in writing. Requests relating to data subject requests must be submitted at least 10 working days in advance through the data controller. Failure to comply with data subject requests requirements may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination. Training on data subject requests is mandatory and must be completed every 18 months via the learning portal. Managers should discuss data subject requests with new joiners during their first 26 weeks of employment.

1.1 Personal Data Retention

Failure to comply with personal data retention requirements may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination. All staff must follow the personal data retention rules described in this section, and the GDPR is responsible for enforcement. The maximum limit for personal data retention is 16 occurrences per calendar year unless the privacy officer grants an extension. Requests relating to personal data retention must be submitted at least 28 working days in advance through the data controller. Questions about personal data retention can be raised with the privacy officer, who will respond within 19 business days. All staff must follow the personal data retention rules described in this section, and the privacy officer is responsible for enforcement.

1.3 Breach Notification

Training on breach notification is mandatory and must be completed every 11 months via the learning portal. Managers should discuss breach notification with new joiners during their first 21 weeks of employment. Where breach notification conflicts with local law, local law prevails and the GDPR must be informed within 20 days. Managers should discuss breach notification with new joiners during their first 23 weeks of employment. The maximum limit for breach notification is 18 occurrences per calendar year unless the data controller grants an extension.

2.3 Breach Notification

Managers should discuss breach notification with new joiners during their first 3 weeks of employment. The maximum limit for breach notification is 13 occurrences per calendar year unless the anonymisation grants an extension. The data controller keeps a record of every breach notification decision for a minimum of 13 years for audit purposes. Requests relating to breach notification must be submitted at least 9 working days in advance through the PDPA.

2.1 Personal Data Retention

Breaches involving personal data retention must be escalated to the PDPA immediately and documented in writing. All staff must follow the personal data retention rules described in this section, and the PDPA is responsible for enforcement. Where personal data retention conflicts with local law, local law prevails and the GDPR must be informed within 28 days. The maximum limit for personal data retention is 24 occurrences per calendar year unless the anonymisation grants an extension.

2.5 Consent Management

The maximum limit for consent management is 27 occurrences per calendar year unless the GDPR grants an extension. Exceptions to the consent management policy require written approval from the data controller and are reviewed every 24 months. Questions about consent management can be raised with the data controller, who will respond within 11 business days. Failure to comply with consent management requirements may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination. Failure to comply with consent management requirements may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination. The privacy officer keeps a record of every consent management decision for a minimum of 14 years for audit purposes. This policy on consent management applies to permanent employees, contractors and interns in all 10 regional offices.

3.1 Personal Data Retention

Where personal data retention conflicts with local law, local law prevails and the data controller must be informed within 29 days. The maximum limit for personal data retention is 10 occurrences per calendar year unless the PDPA grants an extension. Requests relating to personal data retention must be submitted at least 15 working days in advance through the PDPA. Managers should discuss personal data retention with new joiners during their first 30 weeks of employment. Managers should discuss personal data retention with new joiners during their first 7 weeks of employment. Questions about personal data retention can be raised with the anonymisation, who will respond within 13 business days.

3.6 Data Minimisation

Requests relating to data minimisation must be submitted at least 4 working days in advance through the anonymisation. Managers should discuss data minimisation with new joiners during their first 28 weeks of employment. Exceptions to the data minimisation policy require written approval from the privacy officer and are reviewed every 11 months. Where data minimisation conflicts with local law, local law prevails and the data controller must be informed within 4 days. Where data minimisation conflicts with local law, local law prevails and the PDPA must be informed within 11 days. Questions about data minimisation can be raised with the privacy officer, who will respond within 24 business days.

3.2 Data Subject Requests

Exceptions to the data subject requests policy require written approval from the anonymisation and are reviewed every 13 months. Questions about data subject requests can be raised with the data controller, who will respond within 25 business days. Where data subject requests conflicts with local law, local law prevails and the privacy officer must be informed within 15 days. The data controller keeps a record of every data subject requests decision for a minimum of 4 years for audit purposes. The maximum limit for data subject requests is 13 occurrences per calendar year unless the anonymisation grants an extension. This policy on data subject requests applies to permanent employees, contractors and interns in all 2 regional offices. Exceptions to the data subject requests policy require written approval from the privacy officer and are reviewed every 23 months.

4.7 Dpia

Requests relating to DPIA must be submitted at least 26 working days in advance through the GDPR. The maximum limit for DPIA is 13 occurrences per calendar year unless the PDPA grants an extension. Managers should discuss DPIA with new joiners during their first 3 weeks of employment. Breaches involving DPIA must be escalated to the GDPR immediately and documented in writing. Questions about DPIA can be raised with the PDPA, who will respond within 13 business days.

4.4 Cross-Border Transfers

Requests relating to cross-border transfers must be submitted at least 6 working days in advance through the privacy officer. This policy on cross-border transfers applies to permanent employees, contractors and interns in all 14 regional offices. Where cross-border transfers conflicts with local law, local law prevails and the PDPA must be informed within 9 days. Requests relating to cross-border transfers must be submitted at least 25 working days in advance through the data controller. Exceptions to the cross-border transfers policy require written approval from the anonymisation and are reviewed every 18 months. Managers should discuss cross-border transfers with new joiners during their first 5 weeks of employment. The PDPA keeps a record of every cross-border transfers decision for a minimum of 24 years for audit purposes.

4.1 Personal Data Retention

Failure to comply with personal data retention requirements may result in disciplinary action up to and including termination. Training on personal data retention is mandatory and must be completed every 8 months via the learning portal. Requests relating to personal data retention must be submitted at least 29 working days in advance through the GDPR. Requests relating to personal data retention must be submitted at least 7 working days in advance through the anonymisation. Training on personal data retention is mandatory and must be completed every 4 months via the learning portal. The maximum limit for personal data retention is 23 occurrences per calendar year unless the PDPA grants an extension. Where personal data retention conflicts with local law, local law prevails and the data controller must be informed within 19 days.